

Prayer for the Israeli-Palestinian conflict

A Call to Prayer for the Israeli-Palestinian conflict: As a peace-loving Christian community in Singapore, our hearts are burdened by the war and the loss of lives in Israel and Palestine, and the deepening humanitarian crisis. It is our hope that Christians will continue praying for peace and the protection of helpless civilians caught in the conflict. The NCCS leadership invites you to join us in this prayer:

A Prayer inspired by Psalm 120 and the war between Hamas and Israel in October 2023

*Woe to me that I dwell in Meshech, that I live among the tents of Kedar!
Too long have I lived among those who hate peace.
I am for peace; but when I speak, they are for war. (Psalm 120:5-7 NIV)*

Almighty God, have mercy on our world and on us.
We live in a world where leaders, in the name of security and justice, trade in human lives and the promotion of acts that perpetuate terror and death for so many^[1].

Woe am I! Woe are we that we live in such a world.
Forgive us and have mercy on us and our world.
May Thy kingdom come, and Thy good will be done on earth.

Too long have we lived among a people who seem to hate peace, or who exact violence in the name of justice and vengeance.
We are for peace, but when we speak for peace, so many speak for war.
Lord, have mercy on us.
Lord, have mercy on Gaza, and Israel, and our world.

Lord, bless and help all who speak and act for peace;
All who seek to bring food and water,
Help and hope to all who are suffering.
And may all the children and adults who have been butchered or bombed receive Your blessing of Eternal Life

Through Jesus Christ Your Son,
Who also suffered a most violent death, but
Who rose again and lives to give Life to all forevermore.
AMEN.

^[1] See the description of Meshech in Ezekiel 27:13; 32:26